ETERNITY

Forum blends the timeless charm of an ancient natural stone with the highest performance of state-of-the-art porcelain stoneware. The aesthetic and technical features of this collection convey a refined style to the interior design, transforming spaces into elegant and welcoming environments. The surface skillfully reproduces the naturalness of Pietra Piasentina stone, revealing a wealth of chromatic variations and veins with an authentic and sophisticated character. A palette of four colors embraces shades from light to dark with subtle variations that, together with the fine details of the veins, add visual depth to floors and coverings.

A fascinating texture, soft to the touch, reveals a smooth yet pleasantly textured surface, providing warmth and harmony to spaces, inviting contact and contemplation. In the 12"x24" decoration, a special structured finish adds further materiality and thickness to the covering. Forum adapts with versatility to a wide range of styles, from classic to contemporary. Its ability to integrate perfectly with furniture and furnishings makes it a versatile choice to characterize residential environments with understated elegance.

A millenary art at the service of contemporary design

Carved by time, loved in eternity for the creation of sculptures, buildings, and important monumental works: the Piasentina stone that inspires the Forum collection is an icon of timeless beauty. The refined chromatic variety combines with sinuous veins in light tones that intertwine like threads of an endless tale, particularly visible in the mosaic in 12"x12" format, perfect to emphasize with character the coverings.

authentic connections with nature

Pleasant visual continuity effects arise from the combination of flooring and covering to give spaces a sense of balance and cohesion, accentuating the intrinsic beauty of the material. The high resistance of porcelain stoneware to abrasions, chemical agents, and stains makes it suitable even for commercial applications. Furthermore, its low porosity prevents the absorption of liquids, ensuring easy maintenance and durability without compromise.
